

Natural Remedy for Jaundice

Jaundice:

- Jaundice, also known as icterus, is a term used to describe a yellowish tinge to the skin and sclerae that is caused by hyperbilirubinemia. Body fluids may also be yellow. The color of the skin and sclerae varies depending on levels of bilirubin; mildly elevated levels display yellow skin and sclerae, while highly elevated levels display brown.

Causes:

- Jaundice most often occurs as a result of an underlying disorder that either causes tissues to become over-saturated with bilirubin or prevents the liver from disposing of bilirubin. Jaundice is caused by a build-up of bilirubin in the blood and body tissue. That build-up is often due to conditions affecting the liver, such as cirrhosis, hepatitis or gallstones.

Symptoms:

1. Dark Urine
2. Skin Discoloration
3. Yellow color inside the mouth
4. Dark or brown-colored urine
5. Pale or clay-colored stools

Diagnosis:

- The health care practitioner will need to take a detailed history of the patient's illness, and he or she will also be examined to see if there are any findings that indicate the cause of the patient's jaundice. However, additional testing is usually required to clearly determine the underlying cause of jaundice. The following tests and imaging studies may be obtained: Blood tests, Urinalysis.

Ingredients:

1. Papaya leaf
2. Honey
